Dark Covenant

Paragon City: Overbrook (Faultline)

Chapter 1 - Paragon City Reservoir

Log / Dark Covenant / V.Freeza

My name is Michael Civil. I am a mutant. The doctors are concerned about my genetic abnormality; apparently it's killing me, slowly but surely.

My body absorbs earth and water at a radical level and does so to survive.

Hence, I am dependent on this town. Overbrook, as it was originally named, became known as Faultline after the devastation of the great earthquake.

I feed on the exposed earth and the Paragon Reservoir provides me with water.

I helped out with the construction of the dam a few years back, but due to lack of fundings, the structure was left unfinished.

It became nothing more than a web of decaying concrete and rotting steel gunders; that's when the cults moved in. They call themselves the Circle of Thorns.

HEROES

Dark Covenant

The cult consists mostly of demons and men, empowered by dark spirits. Through them, I have learnt many things about hell and the netherworld.

This may sound crazy, and I won't blame you if you don't believe me, but months ago, in a nightmare, I met the demon dog of Hades. It had three heads: one formed of fire, the second made of ice and third, carved of earth.

Its name, was Cerberus.

I believe in destiny; and that night, mine was revealed to me. The head of ice saw me and spoke with a thunderous voice; it said I had been chosen; to fight darkness from within.

I still don't know why, but the Circle of Thorns have hunted me ever since.

Here they come; right on schedule.

Morning! Hey listen, about yesterday, I feel bad. How about a fresh start?

I'll take that as a no.

Everyday was the same. It's easier to think of it as morning exercise.

I can manipulate the water in my body; it takes a while to freeze up, but once I'm cold, I'm virtually untouchable.

Right this way, for smashed mellores and stone pudding.

Attacks just slip off the ice.

Ice on!

TSSSEW

The earth in my veins, I use offensively forming weapons of sheer destruction.

I've been meaning to ask you...

...what's with the dress, confused gender?

BOOM

BADOOOM

I uphold that which is good, and protect he who is innocent. I defend what is right and challenge those who are wrong. I defy evil and provoke death itself. I love to fight because it is in my blood.

I am the Ultimate Victorious Y.Freeza.

My story starts with the arrival of two friends...

The 'thorns' are getting more and more aggressive. I need to figure something out.

I could finish the dam, but even that won't chase 'em off.

Hello handsome.

Delta T, what a pleasant surprise.

Good to see you again Freeza. It's been a while.

Indeed

When I first met Delta T, she too had dreamt the meeting with Cerberus.

Hey Smudge! Didn't see you up there.

Smudge is my sister-in-law; she married my elder brother Marcus but spends most of her time looking for him.

Delta, the 'thorns' around here are getting out of control. I'm not sure it's safe to live here anymore.

Have you seen my husband?

Have you tried speaking to the City Representative? I think she can house you elsewhere, with regards to your condition of course.

No, I haven't.

Sis, d'you mind not going in? Only, I really need to tidy.

The word 'no' is something Smudge will never come to understand. She entered my cabin and noticed an old articles from the Paragon Times.

Marcus darling, are you in here?

Freeza, you kept Jimenez's article. Wow, and to think this was just last month.

CHOSEN THREE COVENANT

Large explosions of light frightened the people of Atlas Park late yesterday night. Heroes around the city rushed to the scene only to see the lightshow vanish as quickly as it had come.

An investigation was carried out immediately and within minutes, MAGI emerged with a full report.

We met up with Azuria directly afterwards: one of Paragon's most gifted seer. Here is what she had to say.

"The shower of light witnessed earlier is a key event; it marks the opening of a prophecy. According to Nanilo Scriptures, this is the night of Cerberus, who guards the realm of the dead. It is said that the demon allies with three hand-chosen hearts of light with the intention to rise against his master, Satan. Three heroes are missing, we must find them."

Hours after the search, the local citizens of Talos Island reported great billows of fog, oozing through the gates of Dark Astoria. The fog was far too dense to enter, so heroes and onlookers alike, waited for it to clear. At precisely 6am this morning, three figures emerged god-like from the solid fog: Xyneohp, Delta T and Y.Freeza, three of Paragon City's most respected heroes. The atmosphere was tense for a short period, broken only by the broadcast of 'Younger' Freeza.

"Our city is facing difficult times: the ages have darkened from the evils of man and darkness clouds the horizon. I am not a magician and I am not a sorcerer, but I have crossed the realms and met the demon that haunts my dreams."

The three heroes spoke with enhanced volume, Xyneohp acting as an amplifier. Freeza fell silent and Delta T spoke in his place.

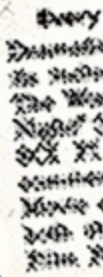

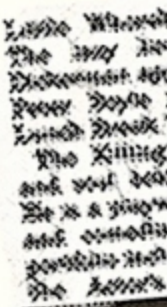

"In order to conquer the evil that plagues this once great city, we must join forces and strike the darkness from within."

The gates of Astoria progressively grew a massive audience of heroes and civilians, Xyneohp addressed the heroes.

"We have made a covenant with a converted demon, his name is Cerberus. Right now, he wishes for an army, and so we ask you, will you join us?"

It was a dramatic sight, as hero after hero gathered behind the Chosen Three.

Juan Jimenez

The media labelled us 'The Chosen Three', of course. I loved it. I played on it for weeks; but after what must have been a billion prints, the name got old.

Sis, ge' outa my cabin.

Smudge, we came to give the man news.

Alright, alright. I'm coming.

'Xyn' received a message this morning concerning the Hero-1 memorial. According to City Rep., the Lost have found a time capsule that contains Hero-1's memorabilia and are intent on stealing it; God knows why.

Yeah, 'Xyn' has been asked to protect the capsule and defeat the Lost; we came here as soon as we heard.

You know me sis, any excuse for a fight. Long as I'm back here by midnight.

Xyneohp was the third 'chosen'. The meeting in Atlas Park was purely an act of fate. We had all dreamt of Cerberus and where I spoke with the head of ice. Xyneohp only met fire and Delta saw earth.

You'll be back here in no time I'm sure. The covenant is gathering up to help her so I'm feeling sorry for the Lost. Delta and I won't be going though.

Oh and Michael, be a man and ask the girl out this time will ya.

I admit it, I find it rather difficult to approach Xyn. She's the stubborn kind, defiant and eager. It's easy to confide in Smudge regarding this matter and Delta was the only other person who knew.

It's not like I'm scared of girls, the problem is that Xyn never actually notices me.

Sure you can fly, but the Ultimate Frieza will leap right over you.

The thought of meeting Xyn again made me nervous, but excited at the same time. Nevertheless, it felt good to be leaving Faultline.

You just be careful where you land Michael.

Later that day...

Paragon City: Perez Park

Y.Freeza, long time, no see.

Yeah. How's faultline?

Capt Biff. Indeed, it has been a while.

Morning Obscure-, Faultline's stressing, very stressing.

That town needs rescuing.

Meet the newest warrior of Cerberus' covenant.

Capt Biff and Obscure- were two of fifteen heroes who stand with the covenant. They were present at Astoria when this whole thing began.

Solar Flame. Nice to meet you.

Likewise. So err, where's Xyn?

Here she comes.

My, my, what a lovely surprise; Y.Freeza

Eva

Her name is Eva Phoenix. She's a gifted goth from New Zealand, went to Paragon High in Galaxy City and became a hero after graduating.

Sorry to have kept you all waiting; had to do some research on the heroes of Omega.

Meet me inside.

Every hero has his nemesis, so we can't risk our secret identities. Eva reversed last name and became known as the bold Xyneohp.

Lets heat things up!

Yeah we got a plan. Get in, hit hard, get out.

Wait, shouldn't we have a plan?

Sounds good to me.

Baby, I'm on FIRE

Xyneohp possesses not defensive abilities so I worry everytime she gets hurt. The freaks threw her into the air, and my heart skipped a beat.

Headman Rifleman, can you see my bones?

No? How about a closer look?

Ice on!

Hey you, get back here!

Throwing me into the air like that. I'll teach you a thing or two on how to treat a lady.

On the offensive however, she was a goddess.

Rraaar

Three on one; you gotta feel sorry for him.

Crime never pays.

You guys go ahead, I'll meet you up; just need to catch my breath.

Concentrating my body's water into a frozen armour, wetting the ice, as well as brawling with stone weaponry has always been tiring.

You're tired already Freeza?

Men; big assets and no endurance.

She spokel To me?

I was shocked. The only word I caught was 'asset'.

Well, err; I carry this big ol' mallet right here.

BADDOOM

Idiot; she was jaking

Although she didn't respond, I got excited and felt like showing off.

LEEROY JEEENKINNS!!!

Whoa! Careful with the fire there Solar.

You mean, we not here to defeat villains and burn down memorial?

Unfortunately, no.

The battle cry gets my adrenaline flowing. Don't get caught up on the name; it's just another random line.

They were kidding, of course.

You people give mutants a bad name.

BOOM

Mission Accomplished.
Time Capsule is safe.

Yeah, good damage
MC hammer.

Can't touch this. Du dudu du, du dudu.
Hammer time!

Jonny Cash

Love is a burning thing
And it makes a fiery ring
Bound by wild desire

I fell into a ring of fire

I didn't know who this singer was:
these two had things in common and
I was getting jealous by the minute.

Let's finish this party later.
Duty calls in Atlas Park.

I'll wait out here.

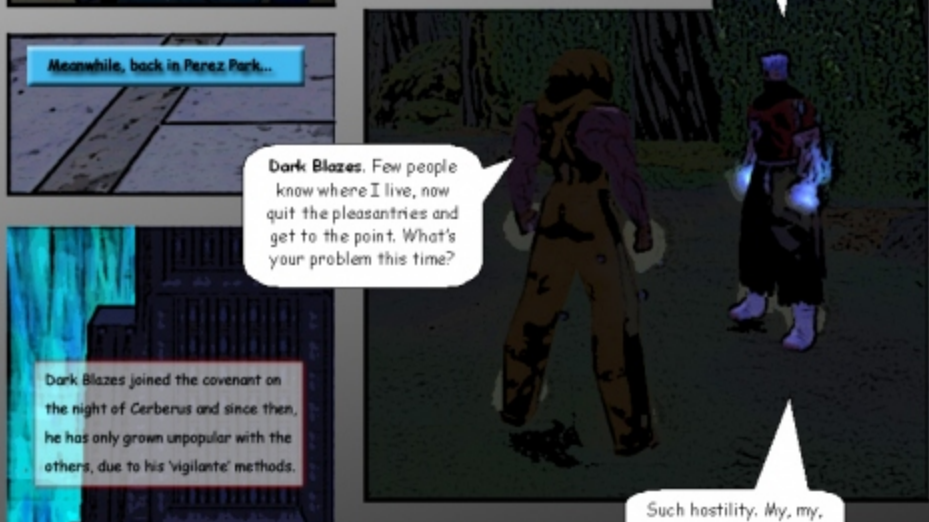

Okay

Thank you Xyneohp. It is heroes like you that keeps this city standing. Visit the icon in Steel Canyon and Serge the tailor should fix you a dashing cape. You've earned it.

YFreeza, I'm glad I caught you. Hard to track aren't you.

Meanwhile, back in Perez Park...

Dark Blazes: Few people know where I live, now quit the pleasantries and get to the point. What's your problem this time?

Such hostility. My, my, people would think you were threatening me.

Dark Blazes joined the covenant on the night of Cerberus and since then, he has only grown unpopular with the others, due to his 'vigilante' methods.

Follow me, boss. I have something to show you.

I suspected him from the start.

Blazes took me to the very south of the park; where the Hydra dwells and landed on the stage of the old open theatre.

Right, we're here.

Why the change of clothes?

Call it a transformation.

He wanted a fight and I knew it.

The leather stimulates chemicals in my body; the earth and water in reserve become accessible; releasing my full potential.

Call that a transformation? Puhleeze.

Boss, I don't think you realise just how serious this is. The 'chosen three' are suspects of last week's chaos in Kings Row.

Blazes too had a transformation, but unlike me, his is very distinctive. He's a cocky little devil and this was a fight I had long been waiting for.

Oh, come off it Blazes; it was merely a disturbance. MAGI are already holding a full investigation. I met with Azuria herself, concerning the matter.

You need to cut out this 'vigilante' nonsense, you are not the police!

You have no idea, Freeza. While you and your little group have been fooling the city officials, with talks of a prophecy, I've been gathering evidence on you as a spy.

Azuria gave me some kind of a warning. She said the second lightworks in Kings Row marks the beginning of 'the indwelling' or something like that.

She did the whole fortune-teller thing and cautioned me about a 'great peril'. I respect her a lot, but just couldn't bring myself to believe her.

The next thing that came out of Blazes' mouth hit me with recoil.

Michael Civil, with the powers invested in me by the city, I hereby place you under arrest, on suspicions of demonic activity.

The nerve. This hypocrite was reading out the Miranda Rights to me.

You have the right to remain silent, anything you say can and will be used as evidence against you.

You have a right to a lawyer, if you want one but cannot afford it, the city will appoint you with the dumbest legal representative, free of charge.

Behold, the Golem.

So what, now you're gonna fight me?

I'm allowed to use all force necessary should you resist arrest.

Lay one finger on me and I swear, I'll smash every boulder on you to pieces.

Blazes wasn't always like this; he had become more and more aggressive of late, god mannered with the air of a corrupted hero. He summoned mudpots, and then... he laid the finger.

chuckle

Blazes, you have no idea who I am in this city... do you?

I don't know where you found those curtains, but I sure wouldn't call it a cape... officer.

"Excellent! I actually do mean it." - Drizzler

"I can say one word about ur comic... wow" - Comic Reader

"Looks nice. Frames are set out well and those are some well taken screenies you've used" - Irradiator
